MERELY A BLUFF.

It Might Have Worked Had an Explanation Been Made.

Ex-Congressman O'Neill of Missouri, who was in the city for a week or ten days recently, has a friend in Washington, a Frenchman, who has the happy faculty of beguiling the hours in such a pleasant manner that the Missourian often gets to bed long after the chimes of midnight have tolled the beginning of another day. About 3 a. m. a few nights ago it occurred to Mr. O'Neill that nature had some claims upon him of paramount importance with those of his French friend, and just for a bluff he suddenly broke off the conversation, which took place in the lobby of the hotel in which the retired statesman was stopping, and said to the clerk in a loud voice:

"Call me at 6:30. I've got to take an early train!"

The Frenchman excused himself hurriedly and departed, and with a heart rejoicing in the success of his stratagem O'Neill sought his couch and prepared to press it until the dinner bell should summon him to his day's task, for he had no intention of leaving for several days to come.

About 15 minutes of 6 o'clock a violent rapping at his door aroused him from the sweetest part of his slumbers, and a familiar voice in the corridor was heard to exclaim:

"Pardonnez-moi, Meester O'Neill. Et's nearly six o'clock!"

"Hang it!" exclaimed O'Neill, "what's that to me? Go away and let me sleep."

At this the pounding at the door became more violent than before.

"But you said you wanted to get oop to catch zo t-r-ain, and zo I haf coom to wake you. Geet oop, geet oop, or you will meez ze t-r-ain," and the pounding continued.

It was no use to remonstrate. O'Neill's friend insisted on making him get up and open the door. Then he explained that he had heard him tell the clerk to call him in time for the early train, but as he had kept him up so late the night before he feared that the clerk might forget, and accordingly he had come to the hotel to see that he did not oversleep himself.

"You old muttonhead!" exclaimed the Missourian. "Don't you know that I left that order just to get rid of you because I wanted to go to bed to get some sleep? Don't you know it was all a bluff?"

"Bloo?!" exclaimed the Frenchman. "Bloo, Meester O'Neill?"

"Yes, bluff," repeated O'Neill.

"Sol! Why you not tell me zat?" demanded his friend, "and I woot not haf come."—Washington Post.

POINTS ABOUT A BULLFROG.

How He "Hollers" and How He Wears His Teeth on His Backbone.

"Do you know how a bullfrog bellows?" said ex-Magistrate Camp last night as he spread out his legs and joined in the conversation of the sidewalk group in front of the Willard hotel. "Now, most people think that when a bullfrog bellows he is lying upon a big rock just blowing off. That's not so. When a frog bellows he is lying flat on the water, this way," and the speaker spread out his broad palm.

"I've seen 'em. You know he has a sort of wattle under his throat. Well, he fills that up about half full of water and blows out the air through it. You've all put water in a bottle and then blown into it?" There was no response, but Mr. Camp continued: "You know how that sounds. Well, a frog bellows in that same way, and it sounds just like blowing in a bottle partly filled with water. Just this way," and the speaker expanded his own "wattle" and gave an imitation so natural as to alarm the cook in the hotel kitchen.

"Do you know where a frog's teeth are?" continued Squire Camp, encouraged by the absence of argument.

"In his belly," somebody suggested.

"No. A frog's teeth," resumed Squire Camp impressively, "are just about the middle of his backbone, between his hind and fore legs."—Louisville Courier Journal.

Japanese English.

Commander Wilde, United States navy, presented to his kinswoman, Miss Louise Withington of North Easton, a silk handkerchief which some enterprising merchant in Yokohama furnishes to patrons for advertising purposes. As an illustration of Japanese English the following words which decorate the four sides of the border are unique and worthy of preservation in print:

"My shop was constantly trading the various clothes of the domestic and the foreigner. Although I was advised by the every foreigner, at this time I have made the nice handkerchief of the different species silk and begun to sell it. Then I was observed with the honor on the several portions. Thence what-over will perform truly for something, and it will sell lower price for everybody's wants. Please I beg consequently to obtain the more favors and the many produces. But the all colors of the handkerchiefs that be done by the one method will by free hurtless for washing it."—Boston Commonwealth.

Didn't Stand It.

Binks—I hear that Jawkins called you a fool at the club the other night. How could you stand that?

Jinks—I didn't stand it.

Binks—That's right. I suppose you made him apologize?

Jinks—Er—well—the fact is, when he called me a fool I called him another, and immediately I found myself sitting on the floor. So nobody can say that I stood it.—London Tit-Bits.

USEFUL BOOKS GIVEN AWAY.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR MAKING ART AND FANCY WORK.

Mrs. Nella Daggett, of Boston, has recently written a book, "Fancy Work and Art Decorations," that gives practical instructions for making dollies, table covers, scarfs, tray cloths, pin cushions, etc., etc., with fifty illustrations. This book, together with "Successful Home Dyeing," will be sent free to any reader of THE ROANOKE TIMES who forwards the following coupon to Wells, Richardson & Co., Burlington, Vt.:

COUPON.

This entitles any reader of The Roanoke Times to one copy of "Fancy Work and Art Decorations," and "Successful Home Dyeing."

The above liberal offer is made to advertise the old reliable Diamond Dyes and to get their book upon home dyeing into the homes of women who want to dress well by making their old clothes look like new.

In some towns dealers sell imitations of Diamond Dyes because they can make more profit on these weak, adulterated substitutes. Some of these dyes claim to color both cotton and wool with the same package, but this is an impossibility, as the user soon finds when she has tried to color cotton with a dye that is not especially made for that purpose. Diamond Dyes have different dyes for cotton from those that are used for wool, and are the only package dyes on the market that can be relied upon to give colors that will not fade or crock. The fact that Diamond Dyes have been the standard home dyes for nearly twenty years, and that their sale increases from year to year, is proof positive that they have never had an equal.

W. K. ANDREWS & Co., 219 Salem avenue have more shed room, the largest coal yard and are better prepared to handle coal and wood than any dealers in the city.

MR. J. K. FOWLER, secretary and treasurer of the Corinne Mill, Canal and Stock Co., of Corinne, Utah, in speaking of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy says: "I consider it the best in the market. I have used many kinds, but find Chamberlain's the most prompt and effective in giving relief, and now keep no other in my home." When troubled with a cough or cold give this remedy a trial and we assure you that you will be more than pleased with the result. For sale by The Chas. Lyle Drug Company.

He Knew a Thing or Two.

The young man had returned from his vacation. He was speaking of his visit to the west and remarked that Indiana was a good place.

"Yes, that's a great country out there—nice people," said the fat man.

"There was only one thing that marred the peacefulness of the occasion," continued the young man, "that old snipe trick, you know."

"Caught you, did they?" said the ex-Hoosier, who was sitting on the edge of the porch. "That was a great joke when I was young—used to catch every tenderfoot that came that way."

"So we did," chimed in the fat man. "How funny it was to leave the unsuspecting galoot in the middle of the woods with a bag and candle, waiting for us to drive the birds up to him—and then go home."

"So they caught you, did they?" and they both laughed again.

"It really was no laughing matter. I assure you. It was this way: I was approached by several of my friends up there and consented to accompany them on a snipe hunt. As the guest of honor I was delegated to hold the sack."

"Ha, ha!" snickered the fat man.

"They gave me a candle also," went on the narrator, without noticing the interruption. "Then the other members of the party left to drive in the snipe."

The fat man slapped his knee. "And you staid there till morning?"

"No; just as they went out of sight I remembered an engagement to be in a neighboring town next day, which necessitated my taking an early train. I carefully concealed the sack and walked to the station, about two miles distant, where I found my grip and took an up bound train."

"I afterward heard that my friends conducted a search for my remains and were fearful that they would be held responsible for my disappearance. Of course," concluded the young man as he arose, "I explained the matter several weeks later by letter and expressed my regrets at being compelled to leave at the height of the festivities, so to speak."

"There are some people," said the ex-Hoosier as the young man walked away, "that are so durned smart they ought to be lynched on sight," and the fat man nodded assent.—Philadelphia Press.

Sufficiently Rewarded.

The latest joke at the expense of the French Society for the Protection of Animals is to the following effect: A countryman, armed with an immense club, presents himself before the president of the society and claims the first prize. He is asked to describe the act of humanity on which he founds the claim.

"I saved the life of a wolf," replies the countryman. "I might easily have killed him with this bludgeon." And he swings his weapon in the air, to the immense discomfort of the president.

"But where was this wolf?" inquires the latter. "What had he done to you?"

"He had just devoured my wife," was the reply.

The president reflects an instant and then says, "My friend, I am of opinion that you have been sufficiently rewarded."—Life's Calendar.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

New York Stock Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The trading in stocks to-day fell short of yesterday's total by about 90,000 shares. The course of prices was irregular, though the trend was downward. The industrial and foreign dealers were the leaders in activity. London prices came lower and foreign dealers were sellers in this market. The domestic influences bearing upon the speculation included an easier market for sterling exchange, a firmer tendency to rates for call money and commercial paper, reports of impending further advances in anthracite coal prices and advances of sharp rate cutting in Western railroad rates. The general market opened weak and moderately active. The losses were confined to fractional ones, the most noteworthy being in Chicago Gas, Missouri Pacific and Tennessee Coal. The downward movement was soon checked and recoveries followed, extending to 1 per cent. in Sugar. The improving tendency was of short duration, however, as a vigorous raid against Leather preferred sent that stock down 2 3/4 per cent. and had a depressing sympathetic effect upon the general list. Around 11:30 o'clock support was given to the market and covering of shorts stimulated a general recovery.

Closing stocks were as follows: Atchafalpa, 20 1/2; Adams Express, 150; Baltimore and Ohio, 62 1/2; Chesapeake and Ohio, 19 1/2; Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, 85; Chicago Gas, 66 1/2; C. O. C. and St. Louis, 44 1/2; Del., Lackawanna and Western, 100; Disasters and Cattle preferred, 23; Erie, 11 1/2; Erie preferred, 25; Great Northern preferred, 12 1/2; Lake Shore, 150; Lead Trust, 34 1/2; Louisville and Nashville, 61 1/2; National Cordage, 8 1/2; National Cordage preferred, 15 1/2; N. J. Central, 112; Norfolk and Western preferred, 14; Northern Pacific preferred, 18 1/2; Northwestern, 104 1/2; Northwestern preferred, 147; N. Y. Central, 101 1/2; N. Y. and New England, 51; Pacific Mail, 30 1/2; Pullman Palace, 172; Reading, 20 1/2; Rock Island, 76 1/2; St. Paul, 75 1/2; St. Paul and Omaha, 43; Southern Pacific, 34; Sugar Refinery, 108 1/2; Union Pacific, 14; Western Union, 91 1/2; General Electric, 37 1/2; Southern, 12 1/2; Southern preferred, 38 1/2; Tobacco, 96 1/2; Tobacco preferred, 105.

New York Money Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Money on call firm at 2 1/2 per cent., last loan 3 per cent. closed 3 per cent. Prime mercantile paper 4 1/2 per cent. Sterling exchange weak with actual billings in bankers' bills at 4.87 1/2 for sixty days; posted rates 4.87 1/2 for sixty days; posted rates 4.87 1/2 for sixty days; posted rates 4.87 1/2 for sixty days. Silver certificates, 67 1/2 per cent. Government bonds firm. State bonds inactive. Railroad bonds firmer.

Chicago Market.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—The firmness of the Liverpool wheat market to-day and the nervousness of the shorts here and elsewhere caused a reversal of the prices. December, which closed yesterday at 58 1/2, rose to 60 1/2 and closed at 59 1/2. Corn and oats sympathized with wheat to the extent of about 3/4 per bushel and provisions closed practically unchanged.

The leading futures ranged to-day as follows:

Wheat, No. 2—October, opening, 58 1/2, closing, 58 1/2; December, opening, 59 1/2, closing, 59 1/2; May opening, 59 1/2, closing, 59 1/2. THERE is one medicine which every family should be provided with. We refer to Chamberlain's Pain Balm. When it is kept at hand the severe pain of a burn or scald may be promptly relieved and the sore healed in much less time than when medicine has to be sent for. A sprain may be promptly healed before inflammation sets in, which insures a cure in about one-third the time otherwise required. Cuts and bruises should receive immediate attention, before the parts become swollen, and when Chamberlain's Pain Balm is applied it will heal them without matter being formed, and without leaving a scar. A sore throat may be cured in one night. A piece of flannel dampened with this liniment and bound on over the seat of pain will cure lame back or pain in the side or chest in twenty-four hours. It is the most valuable, however, for rheumatism. Persons afflicted with this disease will be delighted with the prompt relief from pain which it affords, and it can be depended upon to effect a complete cure. For sale by The Chas. Lyle Drug Company.

You Needn't Look

immediately for the damage that dangerous washing compounds do. It's there, and it's going on all the time, but you won't see its effects, probably, for several months. It wouldn't do, you know, to have them too dangerous.

The best way is to take no risk. You needn't worry about damage to your clothes, if you keep to the original washing compound—Pearline; first made and fully proved. What can you gain by using the imitations of it? Prize packages, cheaper prices, or whatever may be urged for them, wouldn't pay you for one ruined garment.

Beware

Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as" Pearline. IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled; if your grocer sends you an imitation, be honest—send it back. 346 JAMES PYLE, New York.
